New Council Sworn in Before Area Luminaries, Video Camera

by Leta Mach

Four deep voices, belonging to Gil Weidenfeld, Richard Pilski, Ed Putens and Thomas White, and one high voice, belonging to Antoinette Bram, took the oath of office for the Greenbelt City Council on Monday, September 26. Bram is the first woman since 1971 to take the oath of office. The five council members were also the first to be inaugurated while on live cable TV.

The first order of business for the new council was the election of mayor. With White sitting as temporary chair, top-vote-getter Weidenfeld was elected mayor. In another unsurprising move, Pilski, second highest vote-getter, was elected mayor pro-tem.

To packed council chambers, the council members talked about their vision of the coming term. A large contingent of dignitaries — U.S. Congressman Steny Hoyer; State Senator Leo Green; Delegates Gerard Devlin, Charles Ryan and Joan Pitkin; County Executive Parris Glendening and County Council member Richard Castaldi — were present during the evening. Norman Pritchett, Clerk of the Seventh Judicial Circuit Court, administered the oath of office to the mayor.

Each council member also took a moment to say thanks. Weidenfeld found that his words were inadequate "While my mouth is saying thank you, my heart is sending Valentines." He predicted that the new council would be a busy one, wrestling with such issues as development, road improvements, animal control, intra-city transportation, senior citizen housing, a possible bond referendum, the North End School and probably other issues unheard of at the present. He felt the council was composed of very capable individuals who have served on council for many years or, in the case of Bram, are familiar with the issues.

Pilski thanked his supporters and all the candidates who ran, thus giving the citizens of Greenbelt a real choice. He predicted that the next two years would not be without issues and would give the citizens a chance to see how council really performs on the issues. He noted that citizens would be able to see council via cable TV.

'BACK TO SCHOOL NIGHT' AT CENTER SCHOOL

"Back to School Night" at Center School has been set for Tuesday October 4. The PTA will hold a short business meeting in the gym at 7:30 p.m. followed by a visit to the children's classrooms at 8 p.m. Parents are urged to attend. Refreshments will be available at 7 p.m.

White thanked all those who exercised their vote and noted that elections also served to focus on significant issues. Such issues were pet control, development and transportation. He foresaw a bond referendum for capital improvement items such as possible road, Braden Field or recreation facility improvements or land acquisition.

Finally, the mayor called on former council member Bob Zugby. Zugby thanked all those who had supported him as well as all those who voted. He thanked the four members of the past council for an educational and rewarding experience during the last few months. Saying he believed her "a most capable individual," he wished Bram luck. Finally, he gave the new council his support with a word of warning, "I am a citizen." He pledged to become reinvolved and offer suggestions which, "perhaps you'll pay attention to and perhaps not."

Youth Touch Football League Now Forming

The Greenbelt Recreation Department is sponsoring an After School Touch Football League for boys and girls. Two divisions will be formed: junior, 8-12 years old and senior, 13-17 years old.

Three neighborhood field locations will be utilized. One at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center adjacent to the golf course; the second on Braden Field behind the Youth Center and third, Windsor Green Field, off Mandan Road. Games will be scheduled on weekdays beginning at 4:30 p.m. Competition is set to be held over a six week period. At the end of the season, winners will compete from each neighborhood in a final city championship game. Awards will be presented to all participants.

Registration is open to any Greenbelt boy or girl wishing to join in the fun. No fee is involved. Call the Greenbelt Recreation Department, 474-6878, weekdays 9-5 or drop by the Recreation Centers during open hours, and sign up. Also, adult assistance is needed to coordinate site competition. Adults should please call if interested.

Organizational meetings will be held at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, October 7 on the fields listed above. Enthusiastic players are to meet on the field closest to their neighborhood.

WSSC to Look at Storm Drainage Problem in Hanover Pkwy Area

by Virginia Beauchamp

On Monday, October 3, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission will hold a public information meeting in Greenbelt to examine four proposed alternative methods for controlling storm drainage along Hanover Parkway east of the Greenway Shopping Center. The WSSC presentation will be made at the city council meeting in the Greenbelt Municipal Building at 8 p.m.

Because of recent, rapid development of residential and commercial properties to the north and east of the site, and on higher ground, the prospects for flooding, stream erosion, sedimentation and deteriorating water quality for the downstream area have increased dramatically. This possibility has triggered a study of the situation by the Stormwater Planning Unit of the WSSC. In Prince Georges County, this agency holds the authority for control and disposition of surface water.

Of special concern are two small, unnamed tributaries which drain into the area to which Hanover Parkway south of Greenbelt Rd. provides access. (See accompanying map.) The first of these tributaries north of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway, flows through a 30" culvert under the highway, and then in an open channel between the Parkway and Greenbelt Rd. From Greenbelt Rd. through the Greenway Shopping Center, the stream is carried within concrete pipes. It resurfaces then in undeveloped land until again channeled into culverts near the intersection of Hanover Parkway and Hanover Drive.

The second tributary begins west of the Doctors' Hospital property on Good Luck Rd. Except for the distance it traverses through the Goddard Space Village Apartment complex, this tributary is open for most of its length. The two tributaries join about 400 feet north of a culvert under the Capital Beltway. From this point the resulting larger stress flows through an earthen channel in the Schrom Hills subdivision, continues through Greenbelt Park, and eventually flows into Northwest Branch, a tributary of the Anacostia River.

On the accompanying map the two circles mark the areas which the WSSC has pinpointed for special problems. Because of inadequate culverts at these locations, water already tends to accumulate in uncontrolled ponds. In the event of an unusually heavy rainfall, Hanover Parkway could, in fact, be flooded straight across. Also threatened with flooding are the swimming pool area and a utility building for Goddard Space Village Apartments. Traffic into the area could also be disrupted.

Severe erosion of the stream bed and banks is also anticipated. With further projected commercial development in this fragile ecosystem, the WSSC has been searching for design changes to eliminate such future problems. Currently a professional center is projected on Hanover Parkway directly south of the Exxon station and a second such center at the southwest corner of Hanover Parkway and Greenway Center Drive.

Proposed Solutions

All four alternatives proposed by the WSSC involve excavation of detention basins and replacement of existing culverts with control structures and outfall pipes. These alternatives vary in design and in projected cost as well as in the degree of disruption.

On Vicious Dogs

Deep within all of us as Americans is the conviction that a man's home should be his castle. Our traditions make us loath, in fact, to interfere with the ways our fellow citizens choose to live their lives. This is why neighbors, city officials, and the police in Greenbelt have been ducking an issue that has been raised more and more pointedly by a few concerned citizens. This is the issue of pet control. Unfortunately, a recent event has forced this issue into the arena of public responsibility.

As reported in last week's issue of the News Review, a vicious, unprovoked attack by a large dog on a Greenbelt postal carrier has resulted in the hospitalization of the victim and his anticipated absence from work for several months. Although more severe in the consequences to the victim, this episode was not a first-time occurrence. In fact, it duplicates an incident this summer involving a carrier for this paper—a young girl—who was attacked and bitten by a dog escaping from a home on her delivery route. A second young News Review carrier had earlier suffered a dog bite, though the animal in this case was already out of doors.

Although neighbors since the postal carrier incident have been reported as having been long concerned about the attacking animal, apparently none had filed a complaint with the city or with GHI. We can understand how citizens try to avoid conflict with those they live among. We can understand also how municipal authorities can respond only to specific charges about specific animals.

Yet clearly the animal control ordinances need serious review. Very likely they are inadequate for circumstances which have changed. An alarming development, for example, is repeated reports of packs of wild dogs running loose on the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center just outside the city gates. Greenbelt's hiring of an additional animal warden — a person with professional training in animal control — is a heartening development. Whether or not it is adequate for the scope of the problem remains, of course, still to be demonstrated.

In the meantime all of us — neighbors, police, GHI staff, city council and municipal employees — must take responsibility both to locate potentially dangerous animals and to determine how the public can be protected from them.

It should go without saying that pet owners, most of all, have responsibility to see that actions of their own animals do not interfere with the free movement of others in their community. All of us should be able to walk the streets of our own city, confident that whatever monsters lurk inside the homes we pass, they are safely confined within those castle walls.

Two Greenbelters Compete For National Scholarships

Elizabeth Linstrom, of Hedge-wood Drive, and Helen Webb, of Ridge Road were recently named semi-finalists in the 1984 National Merit Scholarship competition. Both Seniors at Eleanor Roosevelt, the girls join 15,000 semi-finalists nationwide in competition for 5300 Merit Scholarships, worth more than $18 million, to be awarded in the spring of 1984. The students represent the top one-half of one percent of high school seniors in the state of Maryland. Twenty-one students in Prince Georges County, including 16 from Eleanor Roosevelt, were named semi-finalists.

PGCC OFFERS TYPING AT E. ROOSEVELT HIGH

Prince Georges Community College is now accepting registrations for "Typing I: Keyboard Training," a course designed to cover touch method and basic machine adjustments. Registrations end three days prior to the class starting date.

Letters from the Candidates

THANKS

The election is over. The voters have chosen five capable and dedicated citizens to serve on our City Council for the next two years. I pledge my unqualified support for the new Council and urge all citizens to do likewise. To those of you who voted for me, I want to express my sincere appreciation for your support and my assurance of a continuing commitment to Greenbelt and the values we share in this community.

To those who worked so hard at the polls, on the telephone, or on the paperwork involved in my campaign, I want to express my gratitude for your dedication and congratulations on a job well done. To those who lent their names for endorsement of my candidacy, or their lawns for displaying my posters, I promise my continued participation in Greenbelt concerns. Your trust in me will not have been placed in vain.

Bob Zugby

THANKS

Congratulations to the Greenbelt voters for the large turnout at the city election. Greenbelt voters have once again demonstrated that strong sense of community spirit that helps to make Greenbelt great.

My sincerest appreciation to all my friends who worked for my re-election, and my sincerest thanks to all of the Greenbelters who voted for me.

You have my pledge that I will do the best job I can to keep Greenbelt a great place to live.
Mayor Gil Weidenfeld

PGCC Offers Children's Developmental Clinic

The University of Maryland in conjunction with Prince Georges Community College is now conducting the Fall session of the Children's Developmental Clinic at the College Park Campus. These difficulties include: specific learning problems, delayed language or reading skills, orthopedic handicaps, delayed coordination or physical fitness, problems with self-confidence, mental retardation and emotional problems. Parents may register children through Oct. 1.

For information, call Kathy Hinkal or Dr. Paul Hahn, at 322-0519 weekdays, except Wednesdays, from 9 until 11:30 p.m.

WIC PROGRAM EXPANDS IN PRINCE GEORGES CO.

Over 6,000 new Maryland mothers and children are receiving food packages under the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program since a special campaign began August 1 to increase enrollment in the federal supplemental food program. According to Adele Wilzack Secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene which administers the WIC program in Maryland, the first priority was to make sure that eligible mothers and children receive proper nutrition. Prince Georges County enrolled the most new participants in August—888 new mothers and children.

Natasha Chavrid . . Miss Greenbelt 1983

by Sandy Smith

Natasha Chavrid, a 15-year-old junior at Eleanor Roosevelt High School is Miss Greenbelt for 1983. She was selected from among 18 area girls between the ages of 14-19 who competed in the Miss Greenbelt Pageant as part of the annual Greenbelt Labor Day Festival. Natasha entered the contest in response to friends' encouragement and because she thought it would be fun. The pageant lived up to the expectation as Natasha commented that it was a very worthwhile experience even if she had not won.

Natasha was born in Greenbelt as were her parents, Gail and Alexander Chavrid. Natasha's mother said the family was proud of her and had provided moral support but that in regard to the competition requirements and preparation that Natasha "did it herself." Natasha was sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department.

The Miss Greenbelt Pageant presents the girls in casual clothes, in a fashion show, in gowns, tests public speaking in luncheons and meetings with judges, and has an optional talent show. As her talent, Natalie sang "Could it be Magic?" She also plays the piano and names as her hobbies swimming and horseback riding. She plans to attend college and major in drama with a minor in business. This year's pageant required each girl to write a theme describing a woman who has influenced her life or one she would select as a role model. Natasha's theme indicated that while her family and friends had helped her grow, there was no single person she would select as a model. She went on to describe Katherine Hepburn and what she thought were some admirable aspects of Hepburn's career which she could perhaps adapt to her life. Natasha said she was not nervous during the contest and would recommend it to other girls. Natasha is considering entering other contests such as the upcoming "Miss Teen Maryland."

The Court

Donna Price was selected as first runner-up. She is studying cosmetology at Laurel Senior High School. Last year Donna was second runner-up. Christina Reed, a senior at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, was chosen second runner-up. And to complete the court, Erin Kendrick was named third runner-up. Erin is currently working in a hospital and is interested in a career in medical technology. Miss Congeniality, elected by the girls themselves, was Deanna Tousignant.

Sharon Morin won a scholarship to Yorktown Business Institute. The Pageant award was given to Malia Murray and Cris Reed received the Glow Girl award from Mary Kay Cosmetics.

tion of the environment during the period of construction.

Costs range between a projected $1.7 million for the first alternative to $2.1 million for the fourth. All costs of construction would be borne by the developers of the property through which the tributaries flow. But maintenance costs will be paid for by the county taxes which support the operation of WSSC.

Citizens interested in learning about these watershed problems and the proposed solutions are invited to attend the October 3 hearing. Prior to the meeting they may examine descriptions of the alternatives in a booklet, "Hanover Parkway Draft Facility

Comments from the public are invited by WSSC officials, who will conduct the hearing. Martin V. Wallace is Planning Manager for the project.

REHAB LOAN DEFERRAL PROGRAM*RAISED TO $70.00 PER MONTH

The Rehab Loan Deferral Program (RLDP) has been amended to allow eligible members to defer $35.00-70.00 per month of their rehab payment. This loan will be assessed 3% accrued interest but does not need to be repaid until the house is sold.

Since RLDP began this spring, many members have taken advantage of this program leaving them with extra money each month for other necessities. These members can check into having their deferral increased by calling the Member Services Coordinator Maureen Osborne (474-6644).

New participants in this program are also welcome. Just call the Member Services Coordinator to find out whether you are eligible. Eligibility is determined by financial status and rehab charges.

It is not too late to take advantage of RLDP. GHI wants to help all its members who can use this assistance.

The GHI Board of Directors will meet on Thursday, October 6 at 8 p.m. in the Board Room. Members are always welcome to attend these meetings of their Board of Directors.

GHI will offer free blood pressure testing on Wednesday, October 7 from 2-4 p.m.

Members are reminded that monthly charges are due the first of the month. After the tenth, charges are late and a late fee is assessed. Members should pay their monthly charges by check or money order. Please include name, address, phone number and unit number on the check or money order.

GHI was well represented at the Eastern Cooperative Housing Organization (ECHO) Annual Meeting September 23-25 in Cleveland, Ohio. Board President Margaret Hogensen, General Manager Shekar Narasimhan and Comptroller Don McGinn attended. Narasimhan and McGinn made a presentation on finance and rehab and Narasimhan was elected to the Board of Directors of the National Association of Housing Cooperatives.

GHI bade farewell to Rehab Chief Inspector Sam Schwallenberg on September 27. GHI and GHIDC staff honored him at a pizza luncheon in the GHI offices. He leaves GHIDC to take a new position in the construction industry.

Japanese Dance Troupe To Perform Saturday

by Rema Boscov

"We are it in all of America."

That statement comes from Leland Chambers, Greenbelt resident and stage manager of Kotobuki Kai, the only authentic performers of Nihon Buyo in the United States.

Extracted from Japanese Kabuki dramas, Nihon Buyo is dance drama, the Japanese equivalent of ballet and opera in an efficiently condensed form. With the eastern approach, emphasizing clarity and simplicity, a dancer of this tradition can convey an entire story line using a few gestures. Their next performance is this Saturday.

Do you have to know what the gestures mean to enjoy Kabuki dancing? Not for productions by Kotobuki Kai. Narrator Jean Ornstein, also of Greenbelt, will explain the brief numerous dramas in lines retaining the poetic quality of Japanese narration.

"We try to duplicate as much as possible," Gerald King, Kotobuki's Kais president, says of the troupe's authenticity, "but we adapt to the American audience." Those unfamiliar with the meanings of Japanese gestures have no trouble following the story line." Though some Japanese movements have multiple meanings, and some, such as our movements for goodbye, mean just the opposite to a Japanese, the expression of moods and feelings is universal," King says.

The dancers will express this universality in their next performance by using, as one of their many numbers, the Tennessee Waltz, choreographed to describe the actions expressed in the words.

Just what can you expect to see on Oct. 1 at 8 p.m. in the Prince Georges Community College Hallam Theater? You'll see several dance dramas, short extracts from Kabuki plays which traditionally run for as long as six to eight hours. You'll see cleverly designed sets. "Some of the sets are quite elaborate," Chambers says of the sets designed by him and King. "Everything's on wheels and folds up," he says, remarking that in the Japanese tradition scene changes take no more than one minute. "We've had as many as 17 scene changes in an hour and a half," he says.

You'll see authentic costumes, some costing over $1000, one over a century old. But primarily you'll see the work of an expert dancer, choreographer and teacher of Japanese dance as she guides her troupe through a cycle of dance-dramas, this series entitled "Seasons of Japan."

Yoko Harada King, trained in traditional Japanese dance since age four, has taught and performed in Japan and in the United States, where she now resides, returning to Japan occasionally for further study. She is organizer and director of Kotobuki Kai, Inc. and has choreographed a number of Japanese theatrical performances including costume design and choreography for the Maryland Opera Society's production of Madame Butterfly."

During a recent trip to Japan, Yoko King witnessed a turn in Japanese tradition. Performances of Nihon Buyo now frequently include fashion shows. She has

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- Your qualifications:
  - Your initial investment (cash to move in)
  - Your total income (gross yearly income)
  - Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Apologies are made to Steffan Sonneveldt. It was inaccurately reported last week that he scored one of the game's goals against Cheverly when he actually scored both of them! My sincere apologies Steffan.

Greenbelt really outdid themselves this past weekend. It was beautiful weather to play soccer both days and even cheerleaders are showing up to cheer Greenbelt soccer on. The Spring '83 6-year-old champs beat Beltsville 4-0 with Jaime Brignoli scoring all four goals. Nice footwork, Jaime! The other six-year-old team took a tough loss to an undefeated Lanham team, 3-2, with super striker Stevie Klem scoring both goals for the team. The eight-year-old team tied Lanham 1-1 with Rookie Fafen Ragen scoring Greenbelt's goal. The 13-and-under team (Interleague) had their second victory of the season with a 5-0 game over Berwyn Heights. The team worked together on this game with Daryl Brooks scoring twice, and Tommy Bingham, Todd Nelson and Rajiv Suri each scoring one goal. Look out, Interleague, Greenbelt is alive and kicking.

County teams had a rougher day, with the 8-year-olds losing 2-1 to Cheverly. Paul McKenney scored the Greenbelt goal. The 11-year-old team lost 3-1 to a very talented Beltsville team, with Mike Salinas scoring our goal. Tony Molden also did a great job as goalie. The 12-year-old team lost 2-1 to South Bowie, with Jimbo Barron scoring the goal, assisted by Sasha Gomelsky. It was a tough loss to a tough team.

Now that the season is well on its way, it is obvious that Greenbelt has much to be proud of, and are always proving themselves to be very tough competition for any one of our challengers. All games have been close ones, and we're scoring more and more!

SCIENCE PARK REHABILITATION CENTER TO OFFER COOKING COURSE

Meals that are exciting and delicious, but low in calories, fat and cholesterol — that's what a new cooking course called "The Culinary Hearts Kitchen" is all about. Originally developed by the New York Heart Association, the course is now being offered in Greenbelt taught by Sheryl Cottrell and Lora Brown Wilder, both registered Dietitians.

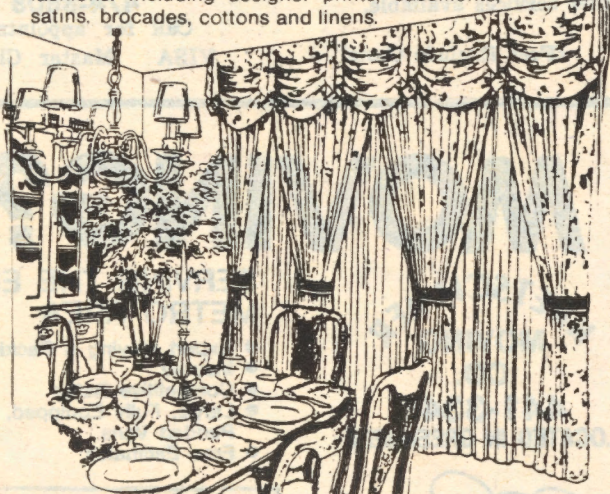

The three week course will cover basic principles of nutrition, food selection and preparation; ways to modify your favorite recipes; menu planning at home and when you eat out; and entertaining. Participants will see recipe demonstrations and be able to taste a variety of dishes.

The classes will be held from 7:00 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. at Science Park Rehabilitation Center located at: 6201 Greenbelt Road, Suite L-7, College Park, Maryland beginning on Thursday, October 13th, and continuing through October 27th. The registration fee is $35.00 per student or $55.00 per couple (living in the same house), plus a $10.00 food fee per person. For more information or to register, call the Science Park Rehabilitation Center, at (301) 345-8525.

Tennis News

by Jim Harbaugh

Greenbelt Tennis Association's final tournaments for the 1983 season will follow each other on consecutive weekends. October 8 and 9 will be another popular doubles tournament weekend. Then the following weekend, October 15 and 16, will be the final tournament singles tourney. With all the vacations over, the response is expected to be overwhelming. Applicants are invited to register early so the draw committee can fit them in. Call 345-6557 for more information.

G.T.A. plans to have a tennis party or two this winter (indoor tennis) at the Watkins Park bubble. The group is not going into hibernation. Those interested can still join the association this year by paying next year's (1984) dues early and join in on the fun at these parties. They will meet a lot of nice people, who just happen to live in and around them in Greenbelt. Call Joni Dies for an application at 345-3162.
